The New Economy Winners Summit

Seattle, WA • Tuesday, March 9th, 2010 • 7:00pm to 9:00pm

Seattle, WA - To thrive in today's climate, savvy professionals are seeking opportunities to expand their knowledge base as a way to quantum leap their success. Having winning skills and strategies can make all the difference in The New Economy.

On March 9th Seattle business leaders will have an opportunity to learn as two experts - Janine Driver and Tim Sanders - visit to offer expertise that is sure to assist those looking to win!

Janine Driver is a former ATF officer who teaches the mysteries of body language—how people communicate their thoughts and feelings without saying a word—and teaches how understanding body language is a powerful first step in mastering any business or social situation.

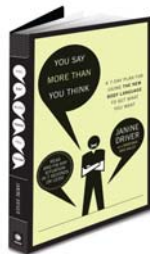

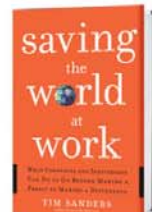

The ability to detect and react to the split-second signals that skim across people's bodies hundreds of times each day is crucial to getting what they want in life. Janine helps people strengthen interpersonal relationships, become a stronger leader, manage nerves better, and attain ambitious new goals. Her book "The Masters of Success" is a best seller and her new book "You Say More Than You Think" will help you succeed in business and in life!

Tim Sanders is the past Chief Solutions Officer at Yahoo! and International Best Selling author. The premise of his book "Saving the World at Work" is very simple: In this socially conscious day and age, you can make a difference as you make a dollar. Simply put, you can change the world by changing the way your company does business. Tim's book outlines the Responsibility Revolution, an idea that is changing the business world. It also shares personal stories on how thousands of people from the mailroom to the boardroom are innovating and helping people, communities and the planet.

Let Tim show you how to make a profit while making a difference as he inspires you to elevate your business. Guaranteed to give you at least one idea to help sustain your business and grow in 2010!
