Comments from LT Graduates

"LT offers a civic education value that cannot be replicated in any other training or development program because it brings together people from all sectors to focus on the issues of our city and region. Involvement in LT is an honor not only for the participants but also for the organizations that sponsor them."

- Rita Brogan, LT'84, President, PRR

"The strength of a local, regional or global community comes from people who work together to craft a vision, based on diversity, harmony and shared values. Leadership Tomorrow fosters the sense of stewardship that helps ensure a balance in the voices and approaches to community problem-solving and supports that vision with integrity, meaning and great fun."

- Alan Mullally, LT'85, President and CEO, Ford Motor Company

"LT bridges the 'us vs. them' chasm; helps us realize we are all in this together and that leadership from business, public entities and community groups are all essential to a vital, sustainable and ethical place to live, work and enjoy."

- Carolyn Kelly, LT'89, President & Gen. Mgr., The Seattle Times

"Leadership Tomorrow is a tremendous tool, in the development of effective leaders, able to benefit the community, our associates, and ultimately our shareholders.....a powerful and winning combination on every level!"

- Jim Marolich, LT'95, Senior Vice President and Managing Director, Bank of America Securities, LLC

"Leadership Tomorrow is one of the best investments of time that I have received for me and my employer! The LT experience is the perfect program to enrich both the participant and the community--a win/win situation. I'm proud to be part of a premier training program known throughout the Puget Sound as well as the country!"

- Sandra Madrid, LT'89, Asst. Dean, School of Law, University of Washington

"I have seen LT alumni lead the most important projects and endeavors, and it makes me proud to be part of this movement."

- Martha Choe, LT'84, Chief Administrative Officer, The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation

"For companies, LT is a way of ensuring that their future leaders are well rounded and fully aware of the importance of firms viewing themselves as part of a larger community."

- Joanne Harrell, LT'87, Gen. Mgr., Business Ops. & Communications, Microsoft

"Leadership Tomorrow is a stunning example of a great community collaboration that really pays back over and over. As a LT alum, a frequent presenter, community activist, and now a CEO of a fast-growing global company, I praise LT's role not only in the professional development of executives, but also in providing that essential -- and often overlooked -- training about the regions' needs, the context of issues, and the commitment to our community."

- Steve Davis, LT'92, President & CEO, Corbis (retired)

"I know that my company has more than recovered its investment in Leadership Tomorrow. This program is not a text-book training experience. It is about growing both as a professional and as a person. And it is about becoming part of an alumni network that crosses all professional disciplines and community sectors. I've integrated the results of my LT experiences and utilize the LT network in my daily course of work."

- Nina Odell, LT'99, Director, Gov't & Community Relations, Puget Sound Energy

"My Leadership Tomorrow experience was an ideas, doors, and eye-opening opportunity to learn more about our region, our community, and the wealth of passionate and brilliant people who exist in our own backyards. I have never felt more connected to our region, nor more mindful of the responsibility and reward of remaining engaged, to build a better tomorrow."

- Frank Percival, LT'05, Sr. Loan Officer, Central Banc Mortgage Corporation
